BRIBERY

Brought to Attention of the Grand Jury

BY JUDGE SEWARD TUESDAY

Gamblers are Summoned to Appear Before the Grand Jury—Water Works Case Is Up

Judge Charles W. Seward charged the grand jurors Tuesday morning and they began their session in the afternoon. Referring to the water works bonds bribery matter, the court read to the jurors the section of the law covering bribery, and told the jury that if they found that any person has offered Mr. Moser $500 or any other sum to influence him in his office as councilman, they should indict.

Water Works Bond Case.

In the case of the City of Newark v. The Newark Water Works company, a motion was made for leave to make Charles Vadakin a party to the suit and file his answer and cross-petition. The court in deciding the matter, held that no question of good-faith was before the court by reason of the fact that the motion to strike the entry from the journal, that had already been made, dismissing the action, had been sustained. The court refused to allow Vadakin to become a party to the suit and to file an answer and cross-petition in the case, holding that the question in dispute was not for hearing upon demurrer to the petition, and that the matter stands now as though no entry of the findings of the court of dismissal of injunction proceedings had ever been made, and as though the petition had been filed but yesterday.

Counsel then argued the matter on demurrer to the petition, and the court reserved its decision.

GOOD RESOLUTIONS

Cut These Out and Paste Them Up Where You Will See Them Every Day.

I will not be careless about my health.

I will never allow a cold to wear off—it wears away the lungs instead.

I will remember that a neglected cold leads to Grip, Pneumonia and Consumption, and that Consumption leads to the grave.

I will remember that pneumonia can be prevented by taking in time Father John's Medicine.

I will avoid "Patent Medicines," "Cough Cures," and so-called "Immediate Relief Remedies."

I will remember that what is mistaken for relief is instead deadening of the nerves by the Opium and other Poisonous Drugs which the majority of them contain, which weaken the body while the disease remains and gets a stronger hold.

That if it is a Cold or Grip, it usually turns to Pneumonia, because the drugs have robbed the body of strength and vital force—the only power by which disease can be fought off and overcome.

I will remember that Father John's Medicine is neither a "Patent Medicine" nor a "Cough Syrup," and that it is all pure nourishment, free from Opium, Morphine or other Poisonous Drugs.

I will remember that Father John's Medicine builds up and makes strength, at the same time cures the cold and all throat and lung troubles.

If I catch cold, I will not neglect it, but will ask my druggist for a bottle of Father John's Medicine and take it as directed.

Stomach Troubles and Constipation.

Delaware Republicans.

An offer of two-thirds of the 16 legislative officers was again given the nine regular Republicans by the 22 Union or Addicks Republican members of the legislature, the latter desiring to choose as their two first nominations the president of the senate and the speaker of the house. The regulars' conference committee simply received the proposition. The committee representing the Addicks Republicans returned to the Union caucus, and both sides then waited for counter propositions, but none have materialized.

Evidently if Governor Peabody and his friends can have their way the Republican majority in the Colorado Legislature will disregard all forms of law and justice and declare that he was re-elected. If they succeed in accomplishing this there will come a day of reckoning. For there are undoubtedly many Republicans in Colorado who voted against Peabody and many others who supported him who would be disgusted by such a gross fraud and they would seize the earliest opportunity of making their indignation known through the ballot-box. Should the proposed outrage in Colorado be perpetrated it will serve to hasten the day when the American people generally will perceive the necessity for insisting that the man who has an honest majority of one vote shall be given the office to which he has been elected, and when the men who commit election frauds or who benefit by them shall be punished as they deserve.

The Russians take comfort from General Stoessel's long defense of Port Arthur because they allege that it occupied a large force which would otherwise have been used against General Kuropatkin's army and probably compelled the latter to retreat to Harbin. While this is true, yet there is no doubt that the experience gained by the army of Negi in the siege will render it a most efficient force for future operations, while its victory will greatly elate the Japanese soldiers generally, and correspondingly depress those of Russia.

A Warning From South Africa.

A negro who emigrated to the Transvaal from the southern states writes home of his bitter disappointment with the adventure. He says that black Americans are not wanted by the British who now rule over the land of the Boers—the Dutch, as he calls them. "We must not walk on the sidewalk, nor can we buy a piece of ground. We are put on the same footing as the raw native."

It could not be expected that a colored immigrant, be he ever so capable, would be made a pet of in a land where the bulk of the population is dark skinned, but it was an English voice which recently lectured this country on "The White Man's Burden" and the Christian duty of patience and tolerance in leading the heathen out of darkness into light. Kipling may find a new text in the following:

When I left America I thought there was as much freedom under the Union Jack as under the stars and stripes, and they push you off the sidewalk and treat you as they would an unprivileged Kaffir, as they call them here. I have run on the railroad as a Pullman porter car porter for eight years, running down south and all through Texas, and I have never been denied any liberty as I have been here. The natives say they were treated a great deal better by the Boer government than by the British. The colored people of America had better remain where they are, for it is the only country on God's green earth for liberty, but they don't know it.

Doubtless there is some exaggeration in this picture, but other witnesses have testified in the same strain. It was said during the late war in South Africa that the blacks did not like the Boer rule. Now they have a taste of the other kind.

England and China's Opium Curse.

In his recent speech upon the blessings of arbitration the British premier placed a scathing anathema upon war and the breeders of war because of the misery entailed upon the masses of any country which engages in it. For his strong words the nations can but be grateful, and he need not feel committed thereby to a crusade upon every evil which crosses his pathway of diplomacy. It will be interesting, however, to watch the course of England under Lord Lansdowne's regime with respect to the opium curse, which his country forced upon China half a century ago and still maintains, much to her disgrace. If the international reform bureau has its way England will soon be called upon to abrogate the treaty of 1842, by means of which she abolished the opium prohibition laws of China. This treaty was put through by British bayonets, but it is extremely unlikely that the Chinese, who groan under it, will resort to the bayonet to get redress. The alternative for England in this case will not be war. It will be the loss of pounds sterling.

India's Oil Fields.

The decline of the importation of American kerosene into India, due to the development of the native fields, may have the happy result of cheapening the price of petroleum to the consumer in the United States. Such a consummation is, at any rate, devoutly to be wished. In a recent British statistical report, says Frank W. Mahin, United States consul at Nottingham, England, the statement is made that during the fiscal year ended March 31, 1904, the importation of kerosene oil into India fell off nearly 10,000,000 gallons. The decline in the import of Russian oil was 19.4 per cent. The rapid development of the Indian oil fields has caused this decreased import. The Indian oil is not yet of as good quality as most of the imported oil, but its cheapness secures it a market. American oil, it is said, has security for a limited market in its superior quality, but keen competition among all the common grades seems assured.

The estimate of the Liverpool Corn Trade News of the probable supply of export wheat for 1905 and the demand therefor should prove encouraging to the American farmer. That journal places the amount of wheat in sight available for shipment from country to country at $22,000,000 bushels, of which $8,000,000 will be raised in the United States. Against this supply it estimates an international demand of 300,000,000 bushels. The natural inference from these figures of exceptionally high prices is somewhat weakened, however, by the fact that no one can tell to what extent substitutes will be employed for that which is temporarily scarce and relatively costly. The world could probably get along on much less wheat than it now appears to need.

Charles M. Schwab is credited with the intention of founding a "cannon trust," with headquarters at Bethlehem, Pa., to compete with the Krupps and Creusots. It would be well for Mr. Schwab to choose other headquarters. Bethlehem has always been associated with the idea of peace on earth and good will to men rather than with the arts of war, and the Moravians who founded this particular Bethlehem are as firm as Quakers in their opposition to bellicosity.

The women of Japan must be less ardent patriots than their brothers, if those goddess girls in the world's fair, who fought so hard to escape deportation, are to be taken as criterion.

thru with his artillery and his tunnels. His rifle bullets were seldom found to be of any use. We constantly endured a bombardment fiercer than any in history. The Japanese periodically assaulted and then, if repulsed, they calmly resumed their bombardments.

"It is a simple story. Had the ammunition held out the fortress would have held out indefinitely. For months we held Port Arthur by bayonets alone until flesh and blood could do no more. When a man fell there was none other to replace him.

"It cost the Japanese 80,000 men to take the fortress, while some say they have lost over 100,000. The number of our dead is not known, even to the high officers."

General Negi's Dispatch.

Tokyo, Jan. 3.—The text of General Negi's telegram announcing the capitulation of the Russian forces at Port Arthur is as follows: "The plenipotentiaries of both parties concluded their negotiation. Monday at 4:30 o'clock. The Russian commissioners accepted on the whole the conditions stipulated by us and consented to capitulate. The document has been prepared and signatures affixed. Simultaneously with the conclusion of negotiations both armies suspended hostilities. The Japanese army will enter the city of Port Arthur today."

Admiral Stoesel's Defense.

London, Jan. 3.—General Stoesel's defense of Port Arthur has excited the admiration of Earl Roberts, commander-in-chief of the British forces. "It has been a magnificent defense," said the veteran fighter, enthusiastically. "What a splendid fellow he is, to be sure. How all the world must admire him." Field Marshal Viscount Wolseley and Major General Baden-Powell also pay enthusiastic tributes to General Stoesel, General Baden-Powell saying: "It is an honorable surrender after a splendid defense."

AFTER TEN MONTHS.

Port Arthur Now In Complete Possession of the Japanese.

London, Jan. 3.—Port Arthur, whose hills have for months run red with the blood of the bravest of two warlike nations, has at last succumbed to the fierce tenacity of the Japanese attack. General Stoesel, most stubborn in carrying out the will of his sovereign, has seen the advance of the besieging army gain in momentum and energy until to hold out longer would have been a crime against humanity. The conditions of the surrender are not known, but in all quarters it is anticipated that they are such as an honorable soldier may accept from a brave and victorious enemy.

The authorities at St. Petersburg, in the absence of direct official news from General Stoesel that Port Arthur has surrendered, have not permitted the news to become public. Emperor Nicholas is in the south of Russia and his ministers are for the time being in the dark as to what dispatches have been sent to him from the front.

Tokyo was the scene of rejoicing, people of all ranks finding in the outcome compensation for all the sacrifice of life and money that was entailed in the 10 months' siege.

HELD UP

Is a German Vessel at Newport News.

Newport News, Va., Jan. 3.—The situation indicates that the predicted holdup of the German steamship Ardia, with the two Lake submarine boats reported to be destined ultimately for the Russian navy, on board, has occurred. Just after a pilot had boarded the steamer a stranger, whose identity was not learned, appeared at the shipyard, and a few minutes later it was announced that the vessel would not sail. Information as to the cause of the change of program, the destination of the submarines and the identity of the messenger is refused.

WITH GREAT LOSS.

Japanese Attack on Russians Below Mukden Is Repulsed.

Mukden, Jan. 3.—A heavy cannonade and rifle fire commenced on the Russian center early in the morning and continued during the day. It is reported that the Japanese attacked the front in an effort to break the center, but were driven back with great loss.

Menaces European Powers.

London, Jan. 3.—That Japan may not be permitted to retain possession of Port Arthur without dispute is shown in the fact that Paris newspapers are already reviving the claim made in 1901 that the holding of that position commanding the eastern seas by the Japanese would be a menace to European powers.

Sevastopol Blown Up.

Chefoo, Jan. 3.—Advices reaching Chefoo say that the Russian battleships Retvizan and Pallada caught fire Monday morning and are still burning, and that in the afternoon the Russians blew up the battleship Sevastopol.

Entire Town In Ruins.

Paris, Jan. 3.—A Chefoo dispatch to the Temps says the officers of the Russian torpedo-boat destroyers which have arrived there report that the entire town of Port Arthur has been destroyed, including the hospital in the northwest section.

Firing Heard.

Chefoo, Jan. 3.—A third Russian launch has just arrived from Port Arthur. Four of the Japanese torpedo-boat destroyers have departed. Chinese report having heard heavy firing Monday night.

WILL FIGHT IT OUT

Confidently Stated That Surrender of Port Will Be Fresh Incentive To War.

London, Jan. 3.—The capitulation of Port Arthur was the one topic of discussion from the street corners, where groups were sheltered from the driving snow, to the comfortable service clubs, the legations and the residences and offices of cabinet ministers. Everywhere the utmost admiration was expressed for the defenders and the attacking army, and the probability that General Negi has made concessions to the gallant General Stoessel is received with much satisfaction. The announcement of the fall of the Russian stronghold created little surprise in official and diplomatic circles, where it had been discounted by recent events. At the Russian embassy the same spirit of determination to prosecute the war to the bitter end was expressed. In fact, it was confidently stated that Russia would only regard the surrender of Port Arthur in the light of a fresh incentive and would spare no efforts for its recapture.

Kuropatkin Threatened.

Paris, Jan. 3.—The news of the surrender of Port Arthur created a profound impression here and was the universal theme of conversation in official and diplomatic quarters and with the public generally. The newspapers discuss the matter at much length and in a tone of sadness. French military critics regard the surrender of Port Arthur as rendering General Kuropatkin's position increasingly dangerous, as the besieging army of 80,000 men is now released and will reinforce the Japanese army in the north. It is expected that Vice Admiral Rojestvensky's squadron will proceed no farther in the direction of the seat of war.

What the Japanese Minister Says.

London, Jan. 3.—The Japanese minister, Baron Hayashi, declined to discuss the probability of peace negotiations. He said, however: "The fall of Port Arthur, will at any rate end the horrible slaughter in one part of the theater of war, and I sincerely hope that in some way it will facilitate final peace. This depends upon Russia and not upon us. It may strengthen the determination of Russia to continue the war at all costs. Its effect upon Japan, however, can not be doubted. Our fleet is free, and the release of the besieging army gives us increased forces available for service elsewhere."

Effect In Germany.

Berlin, Jan. 3.—On the bourse the Port Arthur news tended to lower prices a half point. So soon as the report reached the bourse powerful financial influences immediately met it with statements that the Russian government would not deviate in the slightest from its determination to fight out the war, and by repeating that figures recently put forward that Russian finances, as shown by the expenditure of less than $400,000,000 over the usual budget since the war began, would permit Russia continuing the war for 10 years without reaching a breaking point.

Criticism General Stoessel.

Tokyo, Jan. 3.—General Stoessel is being sharply criticized for destroying the Russian warships, attempting to choke the entrance to the harbor of Port Arthur and dispatching the torpedo-boat destroyers to Chefoo subsequent to his offer to surrender the fortress. The Nichi Nichi says that while General Stoessel made a gallant defense, his action in blowing up the ships after he had offered to surrender leaves a lasting blemish upon his military reputation. His action indicates a want of sincerity and leaves no room for an extension of treatment of him commensurate with the reputation won by the bravery and gallantry of his defense. The Nichi Nichi contrasts the action of the emperor in directing that full military honors be paid, with that of General Stoessel.

Shadowed by British Ships.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 3.—The Novoe Vremya editorially declares that it has authoritative news that British warships are following Vice Admiral Rojestvensky's squadron and reporting its disposition and movements to Tokyo from each cable port reached. The paper adds that the North sea incident has shown that Rojestvensky is a man whom it is dangerous to tamper with, and advises the British government to call off its "official spies" and thereby prevent the possibility of the occurrence "in the Indian ocean of an incident which will be regrettable alike to Great Britain, Russia and the whole of Europe."

Fall Announced.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 3.—The Novoe Vremya and the Russ briefly and sorrowfully announce the fall of Port Arthur. Those journals say that it will be sad news to Russians, though it had been expected and regarded as inevitable for weeks past. Both papers call upon the country passionately to not let the blood shed during the last seven and a half months in defense of the fortress go for naught, but to continue the war with the same steadfastness of purpose as before.

Reform Manifesto.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 3.—The committee of ministers has begun meetings to discuss the reform manifesto. A privately convened conference of representatives of the government and of private shipbuilding yards has also opened the first of a series of meetings to discuss plans for rebuilding the Russian navy.

Officers Retain Their Swords.

Tokyo, Jan. 3.—The Japanese today occupied a number of Port Arthur. It is learned that Russian officers and officials will be permitted to return to Russia on parole, the officers retaining their swords.

To Japan as Prisoners.

Tokyo, Jan. 3.—The Russian rank and file of the garrison of Port Arthur will come to Japan as prisoners.

May Recall Squadron.

Paris, Jan. 3.—Semi-official advices received by the foreign office remarking on the terms of the capitulation of Port Arthur indicates that the Russian officers, but not the rank and file, will be permitted to return to Russia. A Russian naval attaché says the mission of the Russian second squadron was to save Port Arthur and since the mission cannot be accomplished the squadron will probably wait until re-inforced by a third and probably a fourth squadron. He believes Russia will retake Port Arthur by assaults by land and sea.

General Engagement Begins.

Berlin, Jan. 3.—A dispatch from Mukden this morning announces that a general engagement between the forces of General Kuropatkin and Field Marshal Oyama, has begun south of the city.

Thousands of Dollars Worth of Cotton Furnished Big Fire in the South.

Shawnee, O. T., Jan. 3.—Several thousand dollars' worth of cotton, estimated at 60 bales, gathered together in a large pile in the little town of Shawnee in the southern part of this Oklahoma county, furnished a large bonfire with which to greet the new year.

In the presence of a large crowd the torch was applied and the burning pile was a witness to the fact that the farmers of this section do not intend to be outdone by those of other sections in the effort to reduce the supply of cotton and restore the equilibrium of the market.

NEW YEARS DAY

OBSERVED WITH FINE PROGRAM
AT THE Y. M. C. A.

Over 1200 People Visited Y. M. C. A.
Building During Monday Afternoon and Evening.

New Year's day was appropriately celebrated by the local Y. M. C. A. with its annual "open house." The rooms were kept open all afternoon and evening and a point of attraction and social interest it was the most successful undertaking ever carried out by the local association. By actual count 1246 people visited the rooms during the afternoon and evening, and all were greatly pleased.

The program opened in the afternoon with an informal reception, in which hundreds of people thronged the rooms, and admired the furnishings and the exhibit of calendars. The daily family meantime furnishing a delightful musical concert.

As charming entertainment was given by Miss Zaida Gaines, elocutionist, of Columbus. Her dialect work was clever, her stories were good.

The game tournament, open to all, consisting of shuffling board, ping pong and parlor croquet, was won by Albert Daugherty and Ernest Kinz.

The gymnastic exhibition at 1 o'clock, was one of the most interesting features of the day. There was fancy marching by the intermediates, nature drill by juniors, calisthenics by the intermediates and seniors and gymnastic and apparatus work by the intermediates and seniors. The events worthy of special mention were the fancy tumbling by Dana Miller and Harry Lehman and the "sailors' hornpipe," by the leaders' group in costume.

In the basket ball game between the Y. M. C. A. and the Newark High school, the game was won by the High school by a score of 32 to 19.

In the bowling contest for New Year's record, in ten pins, William Dunn won, making a score of 187, and in quintet, Ned Metz won, making a score of 58.

Thousands of Dollars Worth of Cotton Furnished Big Fire in the South.

Shawnee, O. T., Jan. 3.—Several thousand dollars' worth of cotton, estimated at 60 bales, gathered together in a large pile in the little town of Shawnee in the southern part of this Oklahoma county, furnished a large bonfire with which to greet the new year.

In the presence of a large crowd the torch was applied and the burning pile was a witness to the fact that the farmers of this section do not intend to be outdone by those of other sections in the effort to reduce the supply of cotton and restore the equilibrium of the market.

AMUSEMENTS

Tonight Blendell & Pennessy's celebrated laugh-making production, "The Katzenjammer Kids" will be at the Auditorium. There are no fears in this play which is all fun of the funniest kind from start to finish. When the curtain rises and the characters appear in the first scene the audience smiles, gradually the smile deepens into a laugh and when "The Kids" come on the stage, the laugh is changed to a roar. Any one who enjoys a hearty laugh should not fail to attend "The Katzenjammer Kids" entertainment.

"UNDER SOUTHERN SKIES."

The Birmingham, Ala., Ledger, says, "Lottie Blair Parker wrote a charming story when she evolved 'Under Southern Skies,' and the dramatist retained all the pleasing atmosphere of the old South when the play was brought into existence. This play was produced twice yesterday at the Jefferson Theater, to good audiences, by a company of general good merit. It is that class of play that all women enjoy because it wrings from them the tears of sympathy that they love to shed while unfolding a clever story that finds the true lovers finally united and the certain faltering on peaceful contentment. It was better had the stage more such offerings." At Auditorium, Thursday, January 5. Seat sale opened today.

INDICTMENTS

Will Be Handed Down in Connection With the Morse-Dodge Divorce Says the Herald.

New York, Jan. 3.—The Herald says: "Three and perhaps five indictments will be handed down in connection with the Morse-Dodge divorce and marriage tangle if the plans of District Attorney Jerome do not miscarry. Arrangements have been made to have Charles F. Dodge taken from the Broadway Central hotel, where he has remained under close guard, though theoretically free to the criminal courts building, to tell what he knows of the events leading up to the annual meeting of the divorce Mrs. Charles W. Morse obtained from him when he swore the book had been not legally served with a complaint in the civil action."

THURSDAY NIGHT

The Chicago Lady Entertainers Will Give Third Number of Y. M. C. A. Course.

On Thursday evening of this week, January 5, The Chicago Lady Entertainers give the third number in the Y. M. C. A. course in Taylor Hall. Possessing a high soprano voice of great beauty makes Jessie Isabella Christian a star attraction. She is a charming lyric singer.

A good musician, Maria M. Moorhead is more especially an excellent accompanist, playing with great expression and spirit.

As an interpretative reader, Estelle M. Clark is an artist, and her impersonations form a chain of purest gold, each link without a flaw, encircling the entire list of characters known to the art of expression.

With a rich and unique contralto voice of unusually low range, Bessie M. Mercer never fails to thrill her audience.

A number of good seats not reserved for the course may be reserved for this entertainment for 50 cents at the Y. M. C. A. office.

For an early breakfast, nothing is quite so fine as Mrs. Austin's famous breakfast. So good you always want more.

The entire era in Germany devoted to forests is today nearly 200,000 acres greater than it was 20 years ago. Between 1887 and 1900 the decrease in the area of forests of deciduous trees amounted to 267,000 acres, while the gain in the extent of the forests of pine, larches and firs was 269,000 acres.

nothing of the kind, for I had not said what Mr. Moser claimed I had, and that I would explain just what I did say. He then said I must apologize to him. I replied that if after I had explained what I did say he thought an apology was due I would make it.

"I then took up Moser's printed statement and denied making it, but said that I did say that both Mr. Williams and Col. Newton were personal friends of mine and would be glad to see me get the bonds and that if they would go with me to Col. Newton's I thought he would say to them that he would be glad to see me get the bonds.

"I asked Mr. Williams then and there to say whether he would have been glad to see me get the bonds and he replied, 'That was certainly true.' Let me say here now that my statement in regard to Col. Newton was the same and based wholly on friendship, that Col. Newton had not authorized me to say so, and that Col. Newton did not know that I was trying to buy the bonds at private sale.

"The Tribune's statement that I said if we got the bonds Col. Newton would have to stand hitched are Dickinson's own words, which the Tribune is trying to put in my mouth. I make no claim that I had any arrangement with either paper.

"Under the caption of 'How Hampton views the deal' the Tribune has grossly misrepresented me in every way, putting into my mouth words the publisher used in relation to Moser Smythe and Maurath.

"The American-Tribune's statement that I said Smythe was free and that he and Maurath engineered the deal. That was the Tribune's statement to me. The statement that I said 'What the city of Newark secured will never be known,' was the exact language used by the Tribune, and not by me.

"The only truth is that I did say I believed the sale illegal, and that we were fairly beaten in the effort to get the bonds.

"I said to the Tribune that the matter was wholly in the hands of the court, and whether or not the deal would stand was for the court to determine.

"I also said that Messrs. Smythe and Maurath and Moser had asked me to state what the bonds were worth, but that I had refused to do so other than the offer I had made, and that as they had sold them for a good deal more, they had a right to suppose they were making a good sale. That it was my fault they did not know the bonds were worth more and we had no kick coming because we did not get the bonds.

"I want to relate here the entire story of the bond deal and then drop the newspaper controversy.

"I came to Newark to inquire into the matter and found a strong sentiment favoring the bond sale in order that something might be done toward the water works. I learned that there would be an injunction to stop the sale as advertised for the 15th.

"After carefully examining the ordinance providing for the sale of the bonds, our attorney decided that they could be legally sold the morning of the 15th, in advance of the proposed injunction.

"I therefore made a bid to the finance committee and the Auditor for the bonds. It was a straight offer and no bribery was offered or intended. The above named gentlemen declined to sell me the bonds.

"The injunction was issued at noon Thursday. On Saturday evening the bonds were sold for more money than we had offered. We were fairly beaten, and while we would have been willing to pay more than the ten thousand dollars premium yet we had let our opportunity pass by not bidding more in the first place.

"If it is wrong to try to buy as cheap as possible, then I did wrong, otherwise not.

"Respectfully,

"J. L. HAMPTON."

Spoiled Her Beauty. Harriet Howard, of 209 W. 31th St., New York, at one time had her beauty spoiled with skin trouble.
